

Greenberg, Douglas [REDACTED] [REDACTED] [REDACTED]

From: Traci Greenberg <tracigreenberg@me.com>
Sent: Sunday, August 30, 2009 10:43 PM
To: Greenberg, Douglas [REDACTED]

Doug,

Here is what happened Saturday at Houston's Football game.

I arrived at 3:15 with Harrison, who was taping the games. I didn't see [REDACTED] I found a place to sit by friends. After about an hour [REDACTED] arrived and walked past me and sat one row behind about five places over. In my line of sight. Every time I turned my head to watch a play at the other end of the field I could see [REDACTED] staring at me.

I moved a couple rows back so I would be out of her line of sight. [REDACTED] she moved a couple rows back. Again [REDACTED] was in my line of sight when I turned to watch the play at the end of the field. I tried to ignore [REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

There are many places to sit in a large football stadium if you want to avoid someone. [REDACTED] made a choice to sit right by me, when there were plenty of other places [REDACTED] could sit. Then, when I tried to get out of [REDACTED] way. [REDACTED] moved closer.