Re: Info to support obtaining protective order.

Background:

Doug and I met in July 2007. Starting in Oct. 2007, [REDACTED] started calling, emailing me and harrasing me. We were married in March 2008. The incidents didn't stop.

In March 2009 we retained you in an attempt to get [REDACTED] to stop this unwanted and upsetting behavior. You sent [REDACTED] the attached letter.

The incidents initially lessened, but only for a short time.

* On April 13, 2009 my car was parked at LOHS high school by the gym doors, I was out of the car, standing near the rear of the car helping Hannah put her bags and handing her a large banner to give to the coach. [REDACTED] pulled up right behind us -- very close. I quickly got back into the car. I was definitely afraid of physical harm. Hannah took the banner to the coach. [REDACTED] stayed parked very close. I pulled away. This is a big parking lot, there were lots of other places for her to park.

* On August 26, 2009 [REDACTED] tried to either run me off the road, or was trying to get me to hit her car. It was in my neighborhood and not on any route [REDACTED] should have been driving on. I was extremely shaken up and fearful of what might have happened. I filed a police report with the Lake Oswego Police Department. Incident # I 09-24217. We spoke at that time about my options, and again decided to wait, given a pending custody issue involving my elder step-son.

We now know based on email provided by [REDACTED] to her attorney and Doug's attorney, that on Sept. 30, 2009 [REDACTED] was given advice from her attorney David Hull, to "put yourself in a position where there is greater contact with Doug in the hope he gets more aggressive."

Hull encouraged her to lie with a statement: "Bogus allegations will likely be unsuccessful but knowing Doug he might take the bait."

Further, he advised that "communication should be kept at a minimum, that way no third party...can report anything you say but placing yourself near him frequently enough may result in something useful."

█ has acted in accordance with the tactics Hull outlined. And not only has █ targeted her ex-husband via false allegations to parenting coordinator, school officials, the basketball league, his clients, other parents and the police; but she's also targeted me and my children.

Here are some examples:

* █ continued to have unwanted and intimidating contact with my son Daniel at Lake Oswego Junior High, prompting us to have several conversations with the school about it. The behavior continued throughout the school year until finally a district official agreed to have █ changed to a different spot during her volunteer times. (see att. email outlining problem.) This caused him considerable stress and lost educational time. It was something we addressed with his therapist.

* █ started shopping at Wizer's by our house, despite the fact that there is one much closer to her house. (see att. map) █ also started shopping at New Seasons near our house, where all the kids know I go nearly every day. On one day in September, █ approached me and Doug's mother (who was visiting from Arizona) at Wizer's and spoke in a mean way to Beverly, which shook her up. When I see her car at either place, I don't go in.

* At Houston's football game in Oct. 2009, I was sitting the stands next to friends chatting with them and making notes for an article for the newspaper. █ and her mother came and sat beside us and interrupted our conversation several times. Afterwards, they told me they thought her behavior was odd.

* At █ first playoff game, █ and her mother sat right behind Hannah in the student section. This was not the first time █ has sat behind Hannah, which makes Hannah uncomfortable. Hannah and her friends noticed █ staring at Hannah. (There were plenty of other places to sit.)

* In Nov. I went to drop off something at the school for a colleague at the student store. █ was volunteering in the lunch room that day. When █ saw me, █ came out of the lunchroom and stood close, listening to my conversations, giving me a dirty look. I was very unnerved.

* On Nov. 27th, the day after Thanksgiving, Hannah was shopping with her parents in Pioneer Place. They went into █
█ As Hannah was looking at an item, █ came running from a back room, straight up to Hannah and asked her if █ could help her. Hannah said no and immediately left the store as █ made her very apprehensive. (Again, █ could have made a choice to stay in the backroom.)

* On Nov. 28, 2009 at Houston's basketball practice, █ walked over to my brother and inserted herself in a conversation he was having.

* During a fire drill in Nov. 2009 at the Junior High, █ was on the backfield exercising her dog. Daniel said he saw her, and █ was staring at him and acting weird. He was very uncomfortable.

* At Costco in Dec. 2009 I was walking into the store and I heard loudly, "There's Traci." I looked up and saw her pointing at me and staring. I kept walking. (Again, █ didn't have to say anything.)

* On Saturday 1/16 on the way to Houston's soccer game I was on SE Haig Street, stopped at stop sign waiting to cross 17th, which is a busy street. There was a long line of cars going by. [REDACTED] approached, stopped and began waving frantically for me to cross. I looked at her and [REDACTED] had a wild-eyed look on her face. I chose to turn the other direction to avoid any problems. I was scared if I drove on, [REDACTED] would hit me.

* On Tuesday 1/19 I was driving to [REDACTED] house drop off Houston's bag (which he specifically had requested be dropped off about the time he gets home, because the bag had his x-Box controllers in it) As I approached the house on 7th street I saw [REDACTED] backing out of the driveway. I was still about three houses down the street and there were no other cars. [REDACTED] looked at me, stopped in the middle of the street completely blocking it. I drove up and had to wait several minutes for her to leave. [REDACTED] sat and stared at me. I was afraid to get out of my car and I would have had to back down the street to go anywhere, so continued to wait. Eventually [REDACTED] moved, drove off, and I put the bag at the designated spot.

* At Houston's basketball game Jan. 23, 2010 I walked in and [REDACTED] stared at me, giving me a really dirty look. I moved to the other end of the gym. At the second game, I was there early and sat with another mom. [REDACTED] came in and sat with us. I immediately got up and moved to the other end of the gym, as I was fearful what [REDACTED] was going to do.

* On 1/25 [REDACTED] sent me another unwanted email. I filed a report with the Lake Oswego Police Department # 10 660289. [REDACTED] was given a warning about telephonic harassment.

* I am a board member of the Lake Oswego Junior Women's Club -- the organizers of the Lake Run. I have been also vocal about my involvement in Foot Traffic University -- a training group for a half-marathon and one of the sponsors of the Lake Run. I've run the Lake Run before, as had Doug and the boys. [REDACTED] never has. This year [REDACTED] did. At the event [REDACTED] lined up right behind me. I was alarmed, so asked my group if we could move. I was worried [REDACTED] might try to trip me or hurt me. [REDACTED] also moved, again right behind me. My group saw I was very uncomfortable so we moved to the back of the line. We ran slowly on purpose.

* We submitted our summer travel itinerary to [REDACTED] in April 2010--outlining a trip to Italy in July/Aug. I learned while we were in Rome that [REDACTED] was on her way there on a cruise. I learned this through Houston, who was giving her tips on where to go. I was shocked that of all the places in the world [REDACTED] could go, [REDACTED] would be coming to Italy when we were there.

There are many other things that have happened, for example I continue to see her drive and job by my house, but these are the ones I made notes of at the time. Doug of course, has kept documentation of much of the things she's done to him as well. The entire situation has been very unsettling. There have been times I've been very scared. I have changed the way I do things. I am constantly alert in certain situations. I have sought help from a therapist for me and for my children to deal with her continued behavior. This doesn't include all the things I've heard from friends that [REDACTED] says about me and Doug, which have damaged our reputation. Finally, all of her allegations to me -- and others -- especially the false statements about how violent Doug is -- have been damaging to my mental stability and my marriage. As you said, there are some bells you can't "unring." And [REDACTED] has been ringing bells all over town for some time.

I am even more upset now that I realize that all along, this was a premeditated plan.

Let me know what the next steps are. I believe we want to wait until Houston is safe, but then get a protective order in place quickly.
